Dear international student,

What an amazing choice you've made! Just by choosing to study in the best university town in the world (not that we're biased), you have begun an adventure of a lifetime.

It can be hard to understand all the strange traditions at first. In Uppsala, the lectures begin 15 minutes too late, at dinner we sing and toast in special ways, and it's completely forbidden to stand on the chairs and bang on the tables. Except for when you should stand on the chairs and bang on the tables.

The greatest thing about Uppsala is the student life - which is created by students, for students. You will most likely be late for lectures, get lost at campus and drink unthinkable amounts of coffee. That's all part of the experience. But you will also be a part of the best thing Uppsala has to offer: its student life.

And we promise - you'll learn fast! Soon you'll go to your first nation dinner, you'll sing "Helan går," and make friends for a lifetime.

In this magazine you'll find everything you need to know to take your first step into Uppsala's magical student life!

Welcome to Uppsala, welcome home!

Welcome to the City of Students!

Erik Lillrank

President of Kuratorskonventet, the nations' joint committee.

Welcome to the world's, perhaps even the universe's, best student town. Uppsala University was founded in 1477 and is the oldest university in Sweden. Despite its age, the university is kept youthful by its students and its fantastic student life, safeguarded by the student nations and student unions.

Uppsala's student nations were founded during the 17th century and have, since then, been the core of the student life in Uppsala. In 1849, the nations founded Uppsala Student Union, to address students' problems related to their studies. Since then the Student Union has evolved into several unions which are working towards enhancing the quality of education as well as looking after the rights and interests of the students.

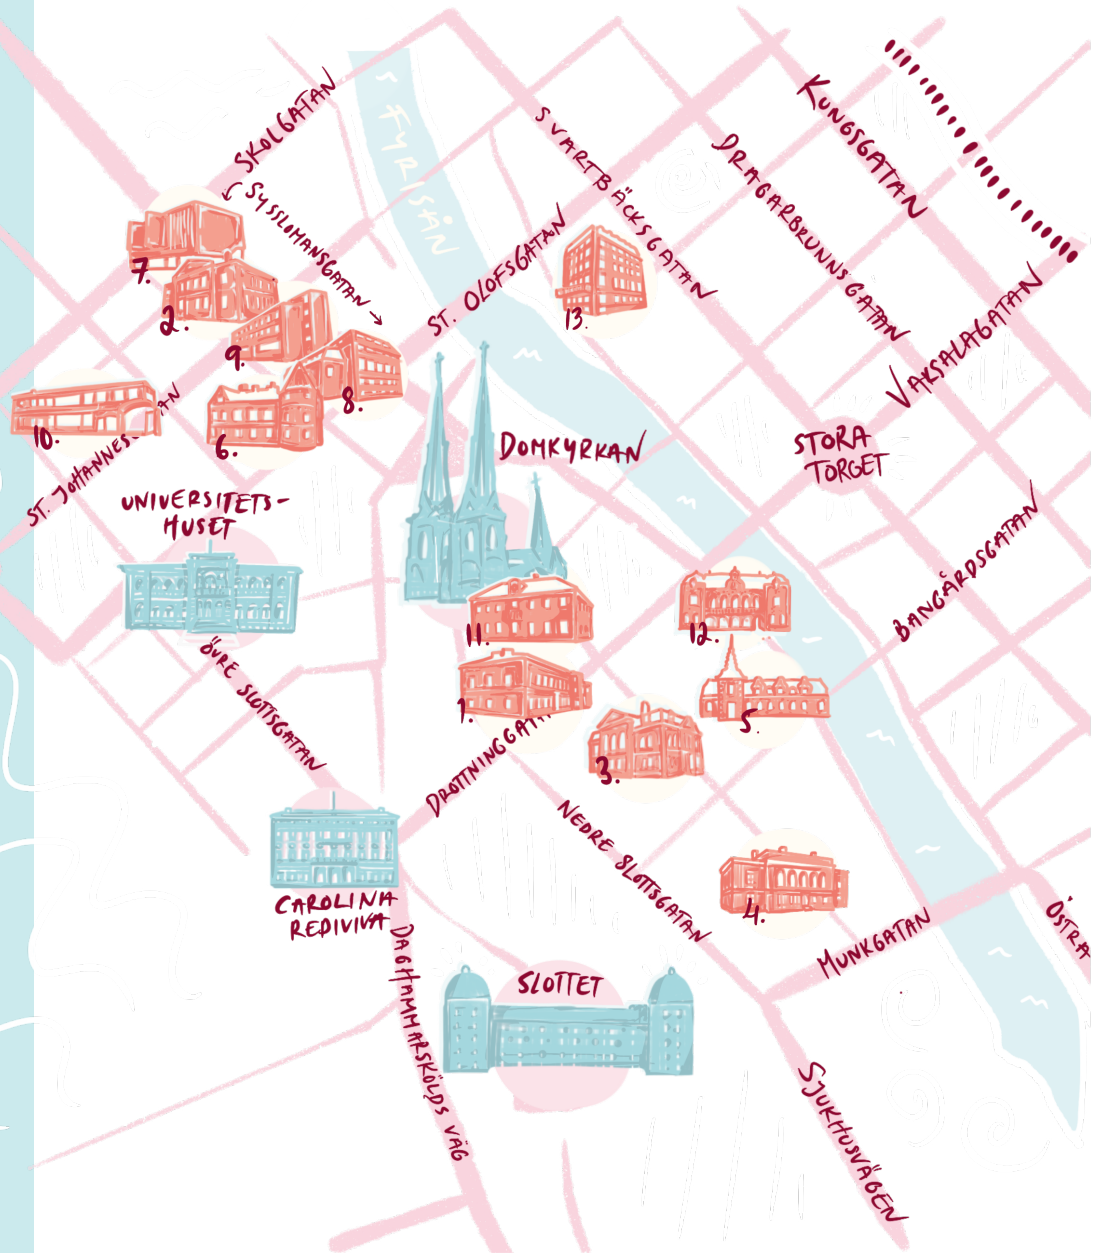

The 13 student nations aim to give you the time of your life. They run everything from pubs, clubs, balls and traditional dinners (called gasques – make sure to attend at least one, it's a unique and amazing experience!). They also offer services such as libraries, accommodation, scholarships, study halls and plenty of associations – there are choirs, orchestras, theatre groups, dance groups and so much more.

Make sure to make the most of your time as a student here in Uppsala. The first step is to join a nation. Maybe you'll get involved with a student association – or start a new one, perhaps you'll become a nation photographer or librarian, involve yourself in marketing, scholarships or the welcoming of new students. Become active at a nation – and make sure to visit all thirteen of them.

Welcome to Uppsala, to Sweden, and quite possibly to the best time of your life!

The International Committee

The International Committee (or IK) is the group responsible for making international students feel welcome in Uppsala and representing their interests in the nations. They host several events, both as a committee and within each nation. Every time your nation has an activity planned for international students, there is an international secretary behind the effort! The International Committee is a subcommittee of Kuratorskonventet (the Curators Convention), the bridge organisation between the thirteen nations in Uppsala.

For more good-to-know information for newcomers and internationals, check out the IK's own website at uppsalainternationalstudents.se!

If you need any help and support, feel free to contact the International Committee either via email (international@kuratorskonventet.se) or through our Facebook page ("International Students of Uppsala University").

IK Events for International Students

Welcome Week

Arriving in Uppsala is exciting, so we want to get you involved right away! After the Arrival Days comes the Welcome Week, an orientation week planned by the international secretaries to introduce you to the nations. All the nations will have activities and events so you can start exploring the city, meet other international students, and get in touch with the international secretaries. By participating in these events, you will not only get further information about the nations, but we also guarantee you will make friends for life.

Don't miss the walking tour of the nations! The full schedule of the welcome week can be found on our website www.uppsalainternationalstudents.se.

International fair

To help in your exploration of the nations, there is also the International Fair where you can meet the nations and ask all the questions you may still have all at once, under the same roof. Other university-related entities may also be present. This event may also be hosted online, so check the arrival information provided to you or with your department.

The International Gasque

Gasques* are a big deal in Uppsala, and a great way to meet people. To celebrate you, and allow you to meet your fellow international students, we also host our own International Gasque each semester. This fun-filled, themed, and thoroughly international evening is the highlight of the IK's social calendar, and we hope to see you there!

Other Events

Beyond the events for international students hosted at each nation, we also host several other social activities throughout the semester that can span from pub crawls to cultural events, so keep an eye out for those on our Facebook!

*see 'Gasque' on pg. 24.

The Nations

The first step into Uppsala's student life

One of the things Uppsala student life is most famous for is the nations. These thirteen student associations are each connected to different parts of Sweden. To be able to access the nations, you need to become a member. Once you are a member of one nation, you get access to the other twelve as well.

Membership

To become a member of one or several nations, we recommend that you visit the nations and join there. This gives you an opportunity to see what the nations are like and meet some of the people involved there. As an international student you will receive a temporary nation card so you can visit all of the nations and find out which one you would like to become a member of!

You can also visit www.uppsalastudent.com to become a member in the nations and a student union. It is possible to pay your membership fee on the website. To be able to use this service you will need either a Swedish personal number or a temporary personal number, which you will get from Uppsala University on arrival. When registering, you can choose to pay by card or bank transfer. You can also pay your membership in cash or by card later at the nation or union. Your membership card will be sent to your home address within two weeks. Before your card arrives, you can get a temporary card which proves that you have paid your fee. If you have any issues with the online service you can always visit the nation or union during their opening hours, which you can find at uppstalastudent.com.

If the card does not arrive

If your card gets delayed or lost you should contact your nation to get a new temporary card and get help finding your permanent card, or acquire a new one.

Discounts

Every student at Uppsala University receives a card from Studentkortet which grants the person discounts in various stores and services, for instance transport services such as UL or SL. Since the nation pubs and clubs are only open for members of nations, it is important to always bring the card along with your photo-ID when you wish to visit a nation. Your nation card is also available in digital form via Studentkortet's app STUK.

Guest Card

University students visiting Uppsala can buy a guest card which allows them temporary access to the student nations. In order to buy a guest card, the student must have a valid student card from their university, and a photo-ID. If a student card is not available, a transcript from the university showing that the person is a student is needed. Guest cards can either be bought during the nations' office hours (ask for their First curator), or at the guest card office run by Kuratorskonventet, located in the Student Union building at Övre Slottsgatan 7. If you want to acquire a guest card for someone else, the person needs to email copies of their student card and photo-ID to gk@kuratorskonventet.se. Make sure the copies are easily readable.

KK-Card

If you are queuing to get in to a nation club and suddenly see someone cut the line and walk in directly without paying, you have probably seen a person with a KK-card. KK stands for Kuratorskonventet. KK-cards are given as a reward to people who work at the nations, like club workers and curators. A KK-card grants the owner (plus one guest) the right to cut the queue to different nation events and enter for free.

GOOD TO KNOW

How to Get Around

Uppsala is flat and biking is the easiest and quickest way to get around town. Within a 15 minute radius you can reach all of Uppsala. Just don't forget to use bike lanes when possible and to ride on the right side of the road. Don't like biking? The buses have monthly student discounts, read more about it on the next page.

Beer and Spirits

Plan ahead. You will not find anything with more than 3,5% alcohol at a supermarket. To buy alcoholic beverages you have to go to the state-owned company "Systembolaget." Make sure to bring your passport to confirm your age as the age limit is 20. Not 20 yet? At restaurants, bars or the student nations, you can drink alcohol from the age of 18.

Work

Although speaking Swedish can be important when looking for a job, you rarely have to at the nations. Working at the nations is also one of the best ways to get to know people and improve your Swedish. All EU/EEA students, as well as students with a residence permit, are allowed to work during their time in Sweden. If you want to work, either at a nation or elsewhere, you have to go to the tax office and apply for a tax number. When staying one year or longer, the Swedish personnummer (personal number) also works as a tax number.

Budget tips

We have gathered some of the best money-saving tips below, focusing on three major checkpoints.

Save Money on Food

1. It is more expensive to do your shopping at the small neighbourhood supermarkets. Take a tour to the larger shops: they are closer than they seem. Most stores help you gather membership points.
2. Time is money. Be time efficient and plan your meals by making lunch boxes for more than one day at a time. A prepared meal can prevent you from spending unnecessary lunch money.
3. Do you want to eat out? You can enjoy breakfast, lunch or a three-course dinner at the nations for student-friendly prices.

Save Money on Course Literature

Uppsala has a lot of second hand stores and Facebook groups where people sell course literature. You can also borrow books and articles at any of the University libraries or read them online on ub.uu.se.

Use Your Student Discount

Carry your student card and passport/other ID with you at all times in order to prove that you are a student. Make it a habit to ask coffee shops, stores or restaurants if they have a student discount. The monthly bus fare in Uppsala is 590 SEK with a student discount and it can for example get you all the way to the sea in the east or to Arlanda airport in the south. Use the STUK app to see your discounts.

"Enjoy your time abroad and you will make friends for a lifetime."

What is the best way to get to know people in Uppsala?

Get involved in the student union and the nations. There you will get to meet wonderful people with whom you share mutual interests. I for instance met a salsa/ bachata community at one of the nations here!

What's the biggest difference between studying in Sweden and your home country?

Climate is one of the biggest challenges I faced in Sweden. I come from a Mediterranean country so you can imagine the difference. However, good company and activities can make dark winter months a blast.

Any tips for new students?

- Don't be afraid to try new things.
- Enjoy your time abroad and you will make friends for a lifetime.
- Have an open mind and embrace Sweden with all it has to offer.
- Everyone here is so welcoming and friendly and speaks English very well so you won't have problems communicating.

"Take as many opportunities to become as active as possible"

How did you get involved in student life?

I first got involved in IK when I was an international secretary at my own nation, meaning that I organized my nation's welcoming of Swedish and international students. Through the International Committee, all the nations also organize a bigger welcome period for all international students, regardless of which nation they choose to join. I'm quite curious as a person and I really enjoy international settings, so I chose to apply for the president position of IK and I've had an amazing year organizing the welcome period for all international students arriving in Uppsala at the start of each semester together with the rest of the IK board and the International secretaries of the nations. This fall, IK is of course organizing the welcome period again!

What are your tips to new students?

I think you find the best about Uppsala in its student life! Primarily the nations but also other organizations offer so many opportunities to get active, make friends for life and try new things! My best advice to you as a new student is to take as many opportunities to become as active as possible, even if you're just here for one semester!

Wishing you luck in discovering everything that Uppsala has to offer!

Gasques – What Are They?

Gasque/Gask

Gasques/Gasks are a common aspect of the student life in Uppsala. A gasque is a fancier dinner, organized by the nations or student unions. You dress up, sing songs from the songbook and eat good food. There are two common dress codes for gasques. The most common one is kavaj, which entails a dark suit or a cocktail dress (preferably knee-length). Pant suits are accepted as long as they have long legs. The other dress code is udda kavaj which is less formal. This dress code means that you should wear a less formal dress or blazer with less formal pants.

Ball

Sometimes the nations organize balls. The two most important ones are the Ball in the autumn and the Spring Ball in the spring. Since balls are fancier, and more formal, the dress code is usually white tie. You can either wear a tailcoat (penguin jacket, white vest, starched shirt, bow tie, and all the rest) or a ball gown. Folk costumes are also allowed.

Sexa

The most informal type of dinner. These usually have less rules, no assigned seats, and are slightly more chaotic (in a good way). Normally there is no dress code, but some might have a theme to which you are expected to dress up accordingly.

How to gasque

1. Traditionally, you write in your friends' songbooks towards the end of the dinner. But remember not to read what has been written until the day after.
2. Gasques are usually long, and it might take some time before you get your food. Therefore, it is a good idea to grab something to eat before you hit the nation.
3. Be nice to the people working, give them space when they're serving, and don't be rude. They are students – just like you.
4. Seating arrangements are usually put up on posters outside the dining hall. Look up your seat before walking in to avoid confusion.
5. Drinks are included in the price; do not show up drunk. The staff always has the right to deny your entrance, or send you home.

What is a nation?

A nation is a type of student association that has been in Uppsala for many hundreds of years. They are named after different regions or cities in Sweden and have some cultural ties to those areas.

Stockholms nation

Uplands nation

Gästrik-Hälsinge nation

Östgöta nation

Västgöta nation

Södermanlands-Nerikes nation

Västmanlands-Dala nation

Smålands nation

Göteborgs Nation

Kalmar nation

Värmlands nation

Norrlands nation

Gotlands nation

How did the nations come to be?

The nations date back to the 17th century and in the beginning, the student nations were a way for students to keep in touch with traditions from home. A bunch of newly graduated students got together, bought a few buildings and started renting them out for newly arrived students. The bond between these students was strong. If anyone had economic issues, they would help each other out with loans. If anyone died during their time at the university (or during a fencing duel) they could (and still can) be buried in the nation's own grave for free. In short: the nation was a way for you to feel at home when you were far away from it.

What are the nations today?

The nations today are still a home away from home, though membership is no longer restricted to people from the region the nation represents. As an international student (and for most Swedish students), you can join regardless of where you come from.

Today, the nations are student organizations that, among other things, run restaurants, cafés, nightclubs, libraries and provide students with housing. The nations are run on voluntary work by Uppsala students. A more detailed description of each nation can be found on page 30 and onwards.

Breakfast

Some nations offer a breakfast buffé with bread, coffee, fruit and whatever else you need to get your day started.

Lunch

If you accidentally forget your lunch box at home, some nations serve cheap, tasty and filling lunches. Check out the nations' social media or websites for a weekly menu.

Fika

Look out for “pluggfik”, or study fika – because a hot cup of coffee can save you from the exam stress you may have.

Pub

All nations usually have pubs at least once a week. Here you can grab a burger, beer, snacks, and hang out with friends.

Sports

The perfect way to wind down after a tough day of studying is to join the nations' sport activities. Running, soccer and badminton are just three out of many activities offered.

Between the nation's walls there's always something happening such as a great number of dinners and balls each semester. The nation provides daily breakfast, lunch and dinner – the perfect break from studying in our study room. Of course the nation understands all needs of the Uppsala students, resulting in the popular Thursday nightclub and the annual Marsspexet. Every semester, members of the nation are volunteering to make the nation life the best there is by doing non-profit work in the form of various offices. For example in areas like editorial, choir, theatre, sports, marketing, international student activities and much more. Taking part in Stockholms nation is very easy, a lot of fun, and we'll make sure that you'll be welcomed into a fantastic community!

Uplands nation

– Your second home.

At the home nation of Uppsala, we want everyone to feel welcome. You can visit our popular pub Svantes källare, in the summer known as Svantes garden, or come study in our café. As a member of Uplands, you get two burgers for the price of one in the pub on Tuesdays. If you want to experience the student life of Uppsala, you can get involved in one of our cultural activities such as the choir, orchestra or board game society. Even though we think that every day at our wonderful nation is a highlight, we would recommend our festival Poplands which is the ultimate opportunity to party. Or in case you don't go home for Christmas we have an open Christmas celebration for everyone. Uplands also aims to be an international and inclusive nation, so it is never a problem not knowing Swedish; many of our activities are entirely or partly in English!

Gästrike-Hälsinge nation

– Good food, good drinks, good friends

Welcome to Gästrike-Hälsinge nation!

We offer study-places during the day, a cozy garden, a pancake bar on Saturdays and a pub open every night of the week. Apart from this, we have several cultural clubs. The best way to get to know GH is to become active. You can do this by working a shift in the pub or pancake bar, by joining a club or by becoming a functionary! Come by and talk to us and we will help you find your place at the nation. We often say that GH is the perfect size. We are big enough to have lots happening, but small enough for you to be recognized by everyone.

The main highlight of the fall at GH is the Luccegasque. During this traditional dinner, guests can enjoy no less than four servings of Christmas food and get to see and listen to a "Luciatåg" in the main hall.

And don't think that's about to change! Formal balls, crayfish parties, songbookgasques, and October festivals – our list of traditional festivities are long. The nation also holds a rich cultural life. We house three choirs, an orchestra, a theatre group, a nation paper, and for the sporty ones we have an athletic association.

Come and hang out in the oldest nation house in town. Come here to study, eat soup lunch, have some coffee, or visit our nice pub in the garden. Södermanlands-Nerikes nation

– The best of nations.

The nation building was built in 1897 and has since become a home away from home to our members. We have a lot of different things to take part in: clubs, societies, a library, a bistro, the Tuesday nightclubs or why not join the choir? The most important thing among all for the nation: it's for students and run by students. We strive to keep traditions alive. During our dinners, you will experience a lot of things that might feel confusing, but you'll get the hang of it. Everything from the way we cheer to how people greet each other. Some reoccurring events are: the Champagne Gallop, May Dinner, Lucia Gasque, and not to forget – The Uppsala Beer Pong Tournament! We do not expect perfection if you want to work with us, we simply ask for the will to learn things you never thought you would or could be doing. Welcome to your home away from home.

Göteborgs Nation

– Navigare Necessse Est.

Göteborgs nation is an anchor of friendship, fun and hospitality in your otherwise busy student life! Established in 1667, the nation has recently celebrated 350 years of housing, feeding and entertaining students from all walks of life. Originally, the nation only catered for students from Sweden's number one city on the west coast, but now all students are welcome to join! This tight-knit family proves that size doesn't matter, as our small numbers allow new students to quickly become a part of the gang – whether it is behind the bar, working cultural events, or going to one of the many parties the nation hosts!

Our pub is open Tuesday to Friday, on Tuesdays we quiz, on Thursdays we sing karaoke, on Fridays we eat lunch and finish the week off at our amazing brunch-buffé. Whether you are looking for new friends, bad jokes or a place to spend your evening: Göteborgs is the place for you!

– The small nation with the big heart.

At Kalmar nation Swedish student traditions meet creativity and we're crazy about music! Dance the night away at one of our nightclubs; Kollektivets Indie, where we vote for which next indie song we're going to dance to, or maybe Folkets Techno or Alt playing techno and alternative music respectively. Kalmar offers several other activities for our members, such as a photography group, yoga, paint, sewing circle, open mic, theatre and sports.

Kalmar is a home away from home for our members, a community to participate in, and a welcoming space to make new friends. We're big enough to make the walls shake and small enough for you to meet most of us and make a bunch of new friends in the process. We welcome involvement and initiatives and we forge fun and happy memories together. If you want to get involved just talk to the First curator or send an email. See you at Kalmar!

Värmlands nation

– Welcome into the warmth!

Värmlands nation was founded in 1660 by students, for students. We have around 2500 members and about 150 officials who voluntarily run the business. Thanks to these enthusiasts, the nation is now open seven days a week and offers a rich selection of activities.

Do you want to get involved? Talk to our 1Q and ask if there are any available offices at the nation! By being active you get benefits such as "brytleg" to Klubb Värmland and job points that make it easier for you to get housing.

The highlights of the year are of course our two traditional balls, the spring ball and the autumn moose ball. Our masquerade gask is also one of the most visited gasks in the autumn. Valborg is one of the absolute biggest events each year, when Värmlands is on a full schedule three days in a row!

Norrlands nation

– This is where you come, when you come home

Norrlands nation boasts an almost unlimited assortment of activities to make your time in Uppsala the happiest of your life. Not only does membership grant an opportunity to apply for scholarships, rent student housing and access to the library but so much more, like social and creative club activities and networking. We provide housing for over 800 students and offer opportunities for extra work. You will receive discounts in our café, at Uppsala's biggest nation pub, our nightclubs and dance nights that last until four in the morning. You also get priority on tickets to our popular gasks and balls.

We are also proud of our seven cultural clubs and house eight cultural societies who do everything from planning parties to speaker dinners. Our big house by the river Fyris is like a giant family home and we work hard to make sure it is always open to our members. Welcome!

Kuratorskonventet

Kuratorskonventet (The Curators Convention) is the publisher of this magazine and many other printed materials that you will see in Uppsala during your study time. Here is a brief explanation of what Kuratorskonventet is and why it exists.

Kuratorskonventet, or KK as it is often called, is a cooperative body for all thirteen student nations. Its task is to represent all the nations on behalf of the member nations, promote coordination and cooperation between the nations, provide opportunities for exchanges of information and experience, and to look after the common interests of the nations. Currently four students are working at KK and they work with questions such as valborg, joint marketing, joint culture initiatives, guest card sales, internal education, Uppsala University student registration, portal administration, and discrimination issues.

Gotlands nation

– The nation on the right side of the river.

On the right side of the Fyris river, you will find Gotlands nation, one of Uppsala's smallest nations. There are lots of things that you can do at Gotlands nation, from getting involved in our nation choir to learning about Gotlandic culture with the Home and Culture committee.

To become part of the nation's committees or become a functionary at our nation, send an e-mail to val@gotlandsnation.se or come by and talk to us and we will tell you all you need to know.

In the end of October or beginning of November we host the Lambskallegasque, a dinner where we eat lamb skulls, drink Gotlandic beverages and max out on Gotlandic culture. It's an event you absolutely shouldn't miss during your time in Uppsala!

ACCOMMODATION

Finding accommodation can be challenging for many students in Uppsala. If you haven't been able to get housing through the Housing Office at the University, finding a place to live can sometimes end up being a much more difficult task than you might expect. We've compiled a list of companies and websites which can come in handy when searching for housing.

The Nations

The thirteen nations own about 40 percent of all student accommodations in Uppsala, most of them located in the central parts of town, and for a decent rent. The nations' queue time is often a bit shorter. If you work at a nation you can also earn extra queue points to go ahead in the line. Some nations also offer housing lotteries for new students at the beginning of every semester. You can read more about the nation accommodations at www.uppsalastudent.com/en/bostader.

Studentboet

To make it easier for students to find accommodation, Uppsala Student Union run a website called Studentboet.se, in cooperation with the universities and the City Council. At Studentboet you can find ads for rooms and apartments which people wish to rent out or sublet. You can register on the page for free and contact the advertisers directly. By clicking on "housing companies" under the tab "documents and resources" you can also register at other housing companies, to start accumulating queuing time in order to get a first-hand contract a bit further down the road.

Heimstaden

A housing company that you should register at is Heimstaden. They have many rooms in Flogsta, an area famous for its high density of students. Sometimes the queue for a first-hand contract is only a few months away.

Blocket/Facebook groups

If you are unable to get a first-hand contract you need to rely on the second hand market. A good place to do this is www.blocket.se. Another alternative to Blocket is Facebook groups, for example "Bostad Uppsala" and "Boende i Uppsala". A lot of the time you won't get replies from the advertisers, so you have to be persistent and reply to as many ads as you can.

TIPS

Do not underestimate the opportunity to find housing through personal contacts. When looking for rooms and apartments online, be careful and make sure you have a proper contract. There have been several cases of scams, frauds and people charging excess rents the past few years. You should NEVER pay anything before you have seen the apartment and signed the contract.

Student Health

Being a student can be challenging. Being a student in a completely new country even more so. It might be hard to know where to turn.

The Student Health Service at Uppsala University, or Studenthälsan, offers a variety of services for when you're feeling depressed, stressed, or anxious. So, if you ever need assistance with any student-health-related issues, they are there for you. The Student Health Service is covered by the Public Access to Information and Secrecy Act which means their staff is bound by professional secrecy.

If you suffer from not getting enough daylight and feel tired, they also have a light room you can visit. The Student Health Centre can be found at Övre Slottsgatan 7, at the same address as Kuratorskonventet. They can also be reached by email at receptionen@sh.uu.se or by phone at +46 (0)18-471 69 00.

For physical health problems, you should turn to the Swedish Primary Health Care, which can be reached by phone at 1177.

CONCERNING SEXUAL HARASSMENT

In the past few years, more attention has been brought to sexual offences and Uppsala is no exception. The student nations have a zero-tolerance policy towards any form of harassment and work proactively to prevent such things from happening. You should always feel safe when visiting a nation. If you ever feel uncomfortable, threatened, or are subjected to any form of harassment, you can always talk to either the staff or the security guards at the nation. They will know how to handle the situation and make sure to do everything they can to make you feel safe.
